MASTER

Business Law

Specialization: Industrial and Commercial Business Law

● Course objective

The Master's program in Industrial and Commercial Business Law aims to train specialists in individual and corporate business law.

Students will develop real skills in business Law, corporate taxation and master knowledges in preventing difficulties and safeguarding procedures to facilitate the reorganisation of a company.

The course also provides skills in analysis and accounting structuration, as well in accounting and contractual writing, in French and in English, without forgetting the unavoidable implications of European and international Law on business Law.

The legal aspects of computer science (electronic contracts, personal datas law, etc.) are highlighted to prepare future lawyers for the reception of new technologies by the Law.

● Profile

- Students holders of a M1 (or a Master's degree in Law) or an equivalent diploma in economics or management for those who wish to complement their knowledge or prepare for an examination containing legal subjects.
- Students holders of a M2 (or a DESS or DEA) in Law, management, or economics who wish to improve their knowledge, prepare for an exam, or specialize.
- The program welcomes individuals who have pursued a diploma within a business school as part of a dual curriculum.

● Career opportunities

The career opportunities are numerous:

- Corporate lawyer
- Legal expert in an accounting firm, a bank, an insurance company, a notarial office or a lawyer's office
- Legal director in a company
